October 30, 1903

A sash and door factory is the next establishment on the program for Didsbury.

The enormous increase of business in the Union Bank here has necessitated the addition of another safe.

F. Goard of Red Deer will open up a jewelry store in the postoffice building.

Wm. Pear is installing the necessary plant for the manufacture of wire mattresses.

Everybody has lots of potatoes this year. Some claim to have over 200 bushels to the acre.

Fall plowing has commenced and teams are to be seen in all directions.

WESTCOTT W.I.

Mrs. Otto Paas was hostess when the W.I. met on Thursday last. Mrs. S. Owens was in charge and roll call was answered by giving a riddle. Her topic dealt with the part played by chemistry in the production of many up-to-the-minute articles, many of these made from the so-called waste products of other industries. Plans were made to serve the lunch at the Henry Becker sale on November 5th. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Shields on the last Thursday.

Don't forget about the sale of Poppy's.

DIDSBURY LAGGING BEHIND IN THE NINTH VICTORY LOAN DRIVE

Didsbury unit of the Ninth Victory Loan is not doing so well in the purchase of bonds, and while weather and roads have been against us, still we should not let this hinder us from doing our share to help finance the return of the boys and girls from overseas. They didn't let rain, snow and bad roads bother them when fighting for us. If you haven't bought your bonds in the Ninth Loan, make your application immediately to the Royal Bank of Canada, Didsbury, or to the unit headquarters at C. E. Reibor's office.

Remember, farmers and others can buy bonds on the instalment plan. You don't have to put up the ready cash.
Didsbury must reach its quota in this loan. We cannot falter now. We have always reached and surpassed each of the other eight victory loans, and we can do so again if everyone will buy at least one $50 bond. So don't be one of the slackers—buy that Bond now!

LOCAL RETURNED MEN BACK VICTORY LOAN

The Thursday, October 25th issue of the Calgary Herald contained a two-column photo of three Didsbury boys who have recently returned from overseas, and who are supporting the Ninth Victory Loan. Under the photo was the following:

"In the War together, these three Didsbury men are helping put the 9th Victory Loan campaign over the top. They held a reunion at No. 7 release centre here and are shown above signing up for bonds. Seated is F.O. K.A.C. MacNair, D.S.C. veteran of the Pathfinder squadron; at his left is F.G. A.J. Buhr, of the bomber command, and behind F.O. MacNair is Squadron Leader C.A. Cunningham, also a flying veteran."

A Brazilian order for six express cargo liners will provide work for almost 4,000 Montreux. Construction begins the end of August and the ships will cost about $14,000,000.

A YEAR GOES BY

Your present publisher of "The Pioneer" has been in Didsbury a year and in retrospect we feel that some progress and improvement has been made in the home town paper.

The good will and patronage of our advertisers and subscribers has been appreciated, and at the same time the 150 new subscribers to the paper indicates the confidence placed in the publisher for the months to come.

To our advertisers and subscribers we can only say that we deeply appreciate this confidence they have placed in us during the past twelve months and we hope that it is possible to improve on our efforts in the years to follow.

To our district correspondents goes much of the credit for the increased news of the community which we can assure these faithful writers that our readers have certainly appreciated their efforts and look forward each week to the budgets of news they send in.

NOTES FROM THE WEST

Mrs. H. Hoesegood had her brother recently returned from overseas and her niece of Clive visiting her last week.

One of the tents at the road camp on Monday night, the cause being a gasoline stove. Despite cold and the icy condition of the roads, travelling of the mile past Banting's is proceeding some of the truck drivers getting some thrills on the big hill. One truck went over the grade of the hill at the south fork last Thursday but no damage was caused.

E. Parker came up Saturday morning and returned to Calgary Sunday. Mrs. Parker's condition is about the same.

ARMY MEAT RATIONS

During the war a tremendous amount of meat was diverted from civilian consumption for the use of the armies of the United Nations. This was particularly true in the United States where each soldier was provided with six pounds of meat per week. In the Canadian military forces the weekly allowance was three pounds per individual and in the British army 1½ pounds.

BUY A POPPY, PLEASE

SIX INCHES OF SNOW MAY CAUSE END OF FALL HARVESTING

With harvesting in the Didsbury district estimated at about 75 per cent completed, all operations came to a sudden stop Thursday evening when a snow storm set in and continued from 5 p.m. till about mid night. More snow fell Saturday and about six inches of the wintry mantle were reported altogether.

The snow will thoroughly soak the grain still to be harvested, even if it all goes, and all operations are held up indefinitely.

Shortage of help is mainly responsible for the delayed harvest, but it is hoped that fine weather will again prevail and allow farmers to complete the harvest before winter really sets in, if it is not here to stay now.

The Folly Of Isolationism

IN THE YEARS BEFORE the war, and even for some time after hostilities had commenced, a great deal was heard about isolationism and there were many people both on this continent and in Europe who failed to comprehend that no country can hope to remain aloof from the repercussions of modern warfare. It was only after the Allied Nations had reached a high degree of co-operation in respect to military organization, economic problems, and other vital matters that superiority over the enemy was attained, and the Allies were strong enough to inflict crushing blows on Germany and Japan. If there had been organized opposition among the nations of Western Europe to Hitler's schemes, and if the powerful "Big Three Alliance" of Britain, the United States and Russia had been in effect, the disaster of war would in all probability have been averted and untold human suffering and economic waste would have been avoided.

Lesson Learned At Great Cost

The lesson that collective security is essential for the preservation of peace and of human liberty was learned at a great cost, and it is one that should never be forgotten. It must also be remembered that isolationism can be as disastrous in peace as in war, and that mutual aid and cooperation between nations must not be discontinued now that victory has been won. Every great defeat suffered by the Allied armies during the war, threatened the security of all those who worked for the Allied cause. In the same manner, poverty, political unrest or disease in one country in time of peace may threaten the well-being of many others. During the war it was hoped that when peace was restored there would be times of prosperity and plenty. It is now realized, however, that we cannot have prosperity here while there is privation, want, and economic instability abroad.

All Are Part Of One World

At present, help from Canada and the United States is needed to restore those nations which were in the path of enemy attack during the war. Both from the humanitarian viewpoint, and from the fact that we cannot hope to have economic expansion here if we have no foreign markets for our products, we must be willing to share our food and other resources until conditions abroad are greatly improved. When this help is no longer urgently needed, it will be important that we continue to keep it in mind that we are irrevocably part of "one world" and that if we want prosperity here, we must be willing to do our part to see that other nations are prosperous, just as if we want peace, we must concern ourselves with the peace of the whole world. Isolationism on the part of nations almost led to disaster in the war just ended, and it is to be hoped that it will not also jeopardize the peace.

Saskatchewan Man Wins The Brandon Kwanias Bungalow

Ed. Dawson, of Richard, Sask., was the winner of the Kwanias Club's $10,000 bungalow which was drawn for at Brandon on Thursday evening, September 20th. Quite a large crowd gathered in front of the attractive looking home on Twenty-second street for the elimination of the lottery ticket selling program.

On a specially-raised platform, President Ernie Warren of the club, P. A. Clarkson, lieutenant-governor-elect of the Western Kwanias district, Winnipeg; Mayor L. H. McDorman, Chas. H. B. Everett and Dr. Harry Ross supervised the draw which was made from a special drum. Mr. Clarkson drew the one ticket, identified as having been purchased by Mr. Dawson. His ticket number was 4220.

Proceeds of the draw will go toward the establishment of a youth camp at Clear Lake, a project for the boys and girls of western Manitoba. The project has the aid of leading of the boards of trade in this section of Manitoba as well as the approval of the federal Kwanias program.

A Root Cellar

Specifications And Plans Are Available From Department Of Agriculture

Although there are many effective ways of storing root crops on the farm, the root cellar has proved one of the best, particularly in districts where low temperatures are common. A root cellar is not costly to build, and what outlay there is will soon be repaid in the saving of roots and vegetables from loss and waste through moldiness and decay. Old lumber and materials at hand may be utilized.

To the farmer who has a root cellar, the time has come when he must make certain that the ventilating system will be in working order during the coming winter. To the farmer who has not a root cellar and is thinking of building one, the Department of Agriculture has made available publication 708 entitled "A Practical Root Cellar". In it are specifications of plans for a farm root cellar, ground floor side and front elevations, together with information and directions as to material, location, temperature, humidity, and ventilation. A copy may be obtained by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

WEIGHT STILL LIMITED

Postmaster-General Ernest Bennett said that gift parcels to Britain will still be limited to five pounds in weight. He said this limit has been decreed by the British government, and added that any increase must be made by that government and not by Canada.

An acre was first defined as the amount of land a yoke of oxen could plow in a day.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Are we going to be able to buy different sizes of Kleenex and other facial tissue?

A.—Yes. Restrictions on the sizes and packaging of facial tissue have been lifted. However, it will probably be some time before any different sizes appear in the stores, because of the shortage of pulp supplies.

Q.—We are planning a St. Andrew's Day dinner on Friday, November 20. As this falls on a meatless day, we are wondering if we could serve haggis or if this would be considered meat?

A.—It would seem from the number of enquiries coming in that many St. Andrew's Day dinners are being planned. We have taken this matter up with the Ration Administration and it has been decided to permit the serving of Haggis on this day.

Q.—My husband is arriving home from overseas this month and will be stationed right in our own town until he is discharged. He will be living at home, however, not in barracks. Will he be entitled to ration coupons and if so, where will he get them?

A.—Armed forces personnel on subsistence receive ration cards from their unit orderly room. These ration cards contain meat, sugar, butter and preserves coupons.

Q.—How much sugar is used annually by brewing and distilling industries in Canada?

A.—No sugar is used by the brewing and distilling industries in this country.

A Major Role

Hamilton Actor Scores A Success In London Theatre

Robert Beatty, 35-year-old actor from Hamilton, Ont., scored an overnight success in the play, "A Bell For Adano", adapted from the novel by John Hersey and presented to an enthusiastic first-night audience at the Phoenix Theatre, London.

Beatty, who began his theatrical career at the Little Theatre in Hamilton, gives a magnificent performance as Maj. Jopolo, an American in charge of Adano, a small Sicilian town, who brings food and water to the starving inhabitants two weeks after invasion.

His tactics, however, bring him into conflict with the military machine. He loses his job but retains the self-respect of one who has done his best.

Beatty took four curtain calls from a warmly appreciative audience the first night. It is his first major leading role.

See Canada First

Encouragement Of Travel Is Needed In Dominion

Recently this newspaper suggested that a constructive move towards Canadian unity would result from the encouragement of travel in the Dominion. To this end, it was further suggested that ways and means might be formulated by service clubs and other organizations for the sponsoring of travel scholarships. As it is, Canada is divided into five parts, the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia. Lack of "visiting" among the four parts creates distinctly as much as a racial minority.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Customer: "I don't want to buy your crackers. They tell me the mice are always running over them."

Greaser: "Taint so. Why, the cat sleeps in the barrel every night!"

"Rastus," said the judge, "your wife complains that you never work. How about it?"

"Dat woman's wrong, judge," replied Rastus. "Ask her what she was doing de second Tuesday in July last year."

He replied his neighbor coming along the road with his fishing tackle.

"Catch anything, old boy?" he eagerly asked.

"Yes, two."

"Good! What were they?"

"The 7.30 there and the 5.15 back," came the mummy angler's reply.

After the family had increased to three it was decided to engage a girl as nursemaid.

"My husband is very particular when we engage," said the mistress to the girl who applied for the job. "Are you faithful?"

"Have you a kind and loving disposition?" Will you?"

"Excuse me, madam," said the girl, "but am I to take care of the baby or your husband?"

She replied: "You can take me to the theatre tomorrow night unless, of course, you meet someone more attractive in the meantime."

He (frankly): "I say, that's very decent of you. We'll leave it like that, then, shall we?"

"Would you advise me to marry a beautiful girl or a sensible girl?"

"Oh, afraid you'll never be able to marry either, old man."

"Why not?"

"Well, a beautiful girl could do better and a sensible girl would know better."

But Aunt Agatha can be persuasive, and Uncle Jack actually tried Postum. "Shiver my timbers if it isn't all right!" he said. "It's not like tea and it's not like coffee. But it's mighty good just the same". And that night he slept like a baby.

Shipments To Britain

Huge Quantities Of Fruits And Vegetables Sent Over In 1944

From the crop of vegetables grown in Canada in 1944, sizeable quantities have been dehydrated and shipped to the British Ministry of Food. The total value of the vegetables dehydrated was $5,650,759. This price includes the purchase price of the raw vegetables, the cost of processing and the freight charges from the processing plants to Canadian seaports. In the shipments, made through the Special Products Board, were: 10,000,000 pounds of potatoes, 1,850,000 pounds of cabbage, 888,550 pounds of carrots, 765,000 pounds of turnips, 62,000 pounds of onions, 4,200 pounds of spinach and 155,000 pounds of beets.

DIDSBURY AND DISTRICT RESPONDED

The drive in Didsbury and district for old clothing, as a contribution to the National Clothing Collection campaign, has been completed and local and country residents can be proud of their contribution to this worthy cause. Over two tons of old, useful clothing have been contributed by Didsbury and district to the collection and the bulk of the goods has now been despatched to provincial headquarters in Calgary.

The local committee in charge of the collection are to be congratulated on their splendid effort and all those who contributed and aided in any way to make the drive such a success will at least have the satisfaction that they have helped some poor individual in Europe to withstand the torments of this coming winter.

When it is considered that Calgary, with one hundred times the population of Didsbury, contributed probably 175 tons of clothing to the cause, and at the same time made the greatest contribution of any city in Canada, it will be realized that Didsbury and district residents certainly did their part in the campaign.

LET'S MAKE SURE OF THE ROOF

After the best architect has produced plans for a beautiful home, the most skilful contractor does not reflect the full beauty of those plans until he has completed the roof and has finished the inside trim.

Capable planners designed a secure financial house to shelter Canadian people during war time. It was built by the Canadian people with eight Victory Loans. Although lacking many conveniences, it compared favorably with shaky war time financial structures of many other nations.

The Ninth Victory Loan may well be viewed as the roof and inside trim, the finishing touches on a financial structure which will transform the house to provide comfortable living for the vast majority of Canadians in the years following the war.

A successful Ninth Victory Loan will provide the means by which the country can help sailors, soldiers and airmen to resettle in civilian life with minimum discomfort and to do her share in the great world task of creating out of disorder and of hastening a resumption of international trade so necessary for continued prosperity in this Canada of ours.

Having done such an excellent job on the foundation and the walls of this Canadian financial house, let us make sure that the architect's plans for the roof are carried out equally well. They will be if each individual citizen buys Ninth Victory Loan Bonds as enthusiastically as he bought in the previous eight campaigns.

ALTER SOME MEAT
COUPON VALUES

Adjustments have been made in coupon values for various cuts and types of meat, following conferences between Price Board officials, groups of meat processors, wholesalers, retailers, trade union officials and a thorough review of the mechanics of the ration plan. Main changes consist of moving certain meats from Group "C" and "D" to Group "E".

The ration has now been increased for meat loaves, jellied meats, bologna, wieners, headcheese, liver sausage and cretons francis. These cooked meats, transferred to Group "E" on the ration chart, can now be purchased at the rate of three pounds per coupon, or six ounces per token.

Adjustments are made in coupon values of canned meats and the ration value of meat pies is now doubled to 16 ounces per token. Beef shank trimmed, bone in, has been moved to Group "D" with coupon value of 2½ pounds. Beef shank knuckle end, veal shank hind and front, and veal flank together with lamb flank, breast and neck, all bone in cuts have been changed to Group "E" where coupon value is 3 pounds or six ounces per token.

FREEZING GAME MEAT
AND GAME BIRDS

Freshly killed game needs even more prompt attention to bleeding and chilling than do domestic meat animals. Mrs. Macdonald, Supervisor of the Home Economics Service warns that spoilage starts quickly, especially in the muscles that have been torn or bruised by bullets. Deer and other big game should be bled and dressed immediately after killing, and hung to chill. In warm weather, it may be well to skin large game at once so that overnight chilling will be more rapid. The carcass should be transported in the coolest part of the car, away from the engine and exhaust. Game meat should be aged in the cooler for about 5 to 7 days at 34 to 36 degrees F. It is then cut in the same way as beef, removing the bone where possible and wrapping in moisture proof paper before freezing. Venison may be stored in the locker for 6 to 8 months.

Game birds, like poultry, should be bled. They may be dry picked or semi-scalded 20 to 40 seconds in water at 130 degrees F. Avoid tearing, cooking, or bruising the skin. Singe and draw carefully. Game birds may be left whole, although cutting trys and fowl saves space in the locker. Wrap in moisture

REAL ACHIEVEMENT

Try and recall any service farmers have to purchase, the charges for which were lowered during the war years and prior thereto. Can you think of more than one?

Yet grain handling charges in country elevators were reduced to the lowest point in history during the war years.

The reason therefore was the fact that the Wheat Pools, the farmers' own organizations, are in business.

The Wheat Pools have earned the whole-hearted support of every farmer.

What!

ANOTHER VICTORY LOAN!

Yes...and HERE'S WHY!

Six years of war have cost Canada a tremendous sum of money—much of which remains to be paid.

Money is needed to co-operate with our allies in providing essential help which liberated countries sorely need. (This, in turn, will aid in maintaining good prices for Canadian farm products and help ensure a high level of employment for workers in Canadian factories.)

Men and women who have served in the armed forces must be re-established in civil life.

So... to provide this money... we must buy more Victory Bonds. Like all previous Victory Loans, the 9th Victory Loan is an obligation which we in Didsbury and District must share together with all loyal Canadians... another opportunity, too, for each of us to add to our savings.

And if we save now, and put off buying everything we can do without until things become plentiful, we will help to keep down the prices of things we want and need. That, too, is an obligation for every one of us. Meantime, our savings invested in Victory Bonds will pay us 3½ interest... double bank interest.

Bear in mind that this is the last opportunity we will have to buy Victory Bonds for a whole year. That is why we are all expected to buy double this time. The same rate of savings, as in previous loans, will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12-month period.

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS ON CONVENIENT
DEFERRED PAYMENTS THROUGH ANY BANK

Just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesman carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5½ when ordering the bonds and the balance at any time during the next 12 months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

The Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, passed by Parliament in 1942, sets forth conditions under which employers MUST REINSTATE their former employees in their employment after discharge.

This Act and its Regulations are administered by the Dominion Minister of Labour, through the National Employment Service. Reinstatement Officers are available in the National Employment Offices to answer inquiries, and assist in adjusting cases.

Employees — either men or women — are to be reinstated if:

- (a) they worked for their employer 3 months immediately prior to enlistment, and were not replacing another employee who has since been reinstated;
  - (b) they left their employment to join the Armed Services, the Merchant Marine, or the Fire Fighters Corps;
  - (c) they applied for their employer for reinstatement verbatim in writing, within 3 months following discharge to Canada or 4 months if discharged Overseas.
- Provision may be made for extension of time if the employee's health prevents him or her from returning within the specified three months. In this event, the employer may be advised within the 3 or 4 months, as the case may be.

The following points in the legislation are also important:

1. Discharged men and women upon reinstatement are to be given conditions not less favourable than would have been enjoyed had they continued in employment instead of the Armed Forces.
2. The period of time spent with the Armed Services is to count for seniority rights, pension rights, vacations with pay, and certain other benefits.
3. Discharged personnel who cannot perform their former duties are to be reinstated in the most suitable employment available, at which they are capable of working.
4. If an employer dismisses a reinstated employee within 6 months, he must be able to prove in court that he had reasonable cause.

WANT ADS GET RESULTS

A man walked into a restaurant and left the door open. A big, fat man called out: "Shut that door! Were you brought up in a barn?" The man closed the door, went to a table, sat down and began to cry. At this the fat man looked uncomfortable and went over to the sorrowful one.

Said he: "I'm sorry. I didn't intend to hurt your feelings. I just wanted you to close the door!"

"I'm not crying because you hurt my feelings," was the reply, "but the fact is, I was brought up in a barn, and every time I hear an ass bray, it makes me feel homesick."

Editor, Didsbury Pioneer:

Editor, Didsbury Pioneer:
May I again beg some space for a final word about the domestic light petition? We are the last town along this line that has yet to take advantage of cheap rates. What towns and villages are we going to unite with to dictate terms to the Power Co.? These towns are happy to be on the adjusted scale and are certainly not going to revert now.

In every case the new rate was introduced only after full discussion with, and the approval of the Council of Public Utilities, as well as the approval of the Public Utility Commissioners of the Province. Since the inception of the "Petition of Consumers" procedure all cases have had the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's approval as well. To offer such an extremely low rate as 1c per kw. hr., for all over 20 hrs. consumption, naturally makes a minimum charge an imperative feature of the rate, and prevents making the rate optional.

presently making the rate optional. Lions Clubs is not for profit, money is not generated about the aid are pensioners. They feel, and rightly so, that they owe these people a great deal of gratitude; and some time ago were formulating a plan to help them. The first action. In larger communities such as the City of Calgary, they are able to go the full length of the measure and plan low cost homes. To these helpful measures for the pensioners, the Lions Clubs is a gross insult to all of us. It is in no sense of the word a case of "The gift without the giver." The local club's plans can be aided by the national organization. The minimum user is in a different category altogether, and, what I said before about him still stands—he can substitute electrical energy for the cash. The Lions Clubs is doing things that are money.

I am no stranger to town lighting plants. To compare their limited output, their intermittent operation with the continuous service rendered by a modern power company just doesn't make sense. Several of the citizens know all too well the history of their local town plant. The minimum was as Mr. Liesemer stated, $1.50 per month; but, the energy was sold for 22 cents per kw. hr. after that. The plant operated part time only; had its debentures continually honored out of town taxation; and, then folded up with an inglorious deficit! Is it that Mr. Liesemer would like to have this plant reinstated?

Mr. Limer puts me in mind of so many of our socialistic crusaders of the day. Does he want us to stand with him at the portals of Didsbury shaking a cudgel of contempt in the face of the Power Co. as the devil crying, "You won't let me, you lying old state attorney like, 'We know your future plans! It's downright chicanery! We're going to tell the whole world about you in the Pioneer. Then we'll tell the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. We'll tell them all how you sold out the people!"

Now, how would you like to see how you, how you should rate us. We'll electrify YOU with the news about OUR power plant." It's a healthy sign of the times when our sister provinces have turned such tunes

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your consideration again.

Television In Year

But Static-Free Radios May Be Available Next Spring

Television enthusiasts will have to wait at least a year before they can realize their hopes of a television set in the parlor.

That statement comes from Joseph Gerl, president of Sonora Radio and Television Corporation of Chicago, in a speech recently in Buffalo.

But, Gerl declared that "when the American people get television, they will get the static-free radio."

The first radio development on the post-war market, according to Gerl, will be the static-free radio. This is due for early spring production.

"Electrical storms," he declared, "will mean nothing on the receiving sets when non-static broadcasting is underway."

Lightning crashes, always heard in present radios, will be a thing of the past. Meteorological conditions will never interfere with reception.

Gerl emphasized that "television probably will be on parlor tables one year from now, but not before."

The television industry, he explained, has in part solved the problem of overcoming curricular surfaces of the earth—such as hills and mountains—by establishing high-elevation relay stations.

"First sets," he declared, "will be television only. Then there will be the television-radio combination, and finally, the complete cabinets embodying radio, television and phonograph records."

The first television sets, Gerl said, probably will cost about $100 to $150. The simple sets, he declared, will have a "picture" or screen, about 8 by 12 inches while the parlor sets to be priced at $200 to $400, will have a receiving screen of opaque glass 16 by 21 inches.

Every time a war ends," Gerl said, "some industrial product develops to take up the slack. After the Civil War, it was the locomotive and steamboat. After World War I, it was the automobile."

Now, with so many soldiers coming home with knowledge of radar, radio and electronics, along with possibilities in the development of atomic energy, the electrical field is wide open and within a short time will be the sustaining field for more than 6,000,000 in the United States alone.

WOMEN COSTLIER

Amid the increasing masculine worries about the possibility of women continuing to hold men's jobs comes a ray of hope from Scotland. The Corporation of Edinburgh says that the cost of employing women is greater than that of men for equal work, declaring that over a long period more women have to be employed on a job than men.

Advertising Canada

Canadian Troops Were Unofficial Ambassadors To England

(By Michael O'Mara)

One of Canada's new war correspondents is home after more than five years on the battlefields of Italy and Western Europe, and in war-ravaged Britain—and is mightily glad to be going back to Canada.

Douglas Amaron, lean, 30-year-old newspaperman who reported for The Canadian Press many of the most vital and violent battles which Canadian troops fought in the second Great War, docked in New York recently from London, and proceeded by plane to Montreal.

A man whose business is to tell the exploits of others, Amaron was reluctant to talk about his own adventures in Italy, Holland and Germany. When he did admit to having witnessed hot actions—at dangerously close range—it was with masterly understatement.

But about the Canadian troops and the people of Britain he was willing to talk at length.

"The Canadians were as great as anyone ever said they were," he remarked. "They were the best advertisement Canada ever had."

The people of Britain were tremendously grateful to Canada on several counts—because her troops helped man the coastal defenses when a German invasion seemed likely; because it was Canadians who cleared the flying-bomb and V-2 nests in the late months of the war; because of Canada's generous mutual-aid program which still is bringing comfort to the hungry, ill-clothed British public.

Because of the respect and admiration for Canadian servicemen, and through new knowledge gained of the Dominion by meeting these unofficial ambassadors, Britons now are far more interested in Canada than they were five years ago, Amaron said.

"When I went over there in July, 1940," Amaron just about had to have quinquettes to get his name in the English papers. Now they are full of Canadian news—as much in a month's time as there used to be in a year."

RECIPES

HONEY TO THE RESCUE

The first new honey of the season is available and a good crop is promised. Honey is a natural sweetener and a good substitute for sugar. Although honey contains about 20 per cent. moisture, measure for measure, it has about the same sweetening power as sugar. The characteristic flavour of honey is imparted to the food with which it is sweetened. Honey gives a deliciously pleasing flavour to cake frostings, puddings, and cereals. It may be used to sweeten cooked fruits, or to glaze baked ham, sweet potatoes and carrots.

Since sugar has become a scarce item, honey has been playing an important role in many recipes. Here is a "honey" of a candy recipe to start off the season.

HONEY HAPPIES

1 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups corn flakes

Mix brown sugar and honey in small saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved and mixture bubbles. Stir in butter. Pour over corn flakes which have been poured into buttered bowl. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Let stand until cool. Yield: 20 1 1/2 inch candies.

CUSTARD SAUCE

1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of salt
1 cup scalded milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs slightly; add sugar and salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Cool.

Plywood And Plastics

Producing Materials As Tough And More Elastic Than Steel

During the war the impregnation of wood with plastics produced materials as tough as and more elastic than steel. The lamination of plywood with new plastic glues furnished the fuselage for the Mosquito bomber.

Advancements of new speed boats, tugs and similar craft made from these materials, all of which have been predicated for the time when the war ended, point to possibilities in this field.

New skills no doubt are demanded for the production of such products. But the training is obtainable if the materials are available. The coast of British Columbia and the Yukon have resources provide a real market for such production. Are we looking forward to such utilization or backward to the days that have gone with the war? Is the plywood which we manufactured in great quantities in British Columbia, and for which mills were specially toolled and expanded, still in such demand that it is not available for local use?

It might be suggested that the available authorities be consulted and that the available opportunities explored, and if warranted, exploited. Let us make use of every opportunity, not leave these that exist unexplored. We must look forward not backward.—Victoria Times.

German Picture Shows Why The Captain Won The Victoria Cross

A picture, taken from the files of the Germans, illustrates how the Victoria Cross was won by the captain of the destroyer Glowworm, nearly five years ago. It shows the gallant but hopeless fight against a ship immensely superior in armament, the German heavy cruiser Hipper.

The photograph taken from the bridge of the Hipper just before the destroyer sank, reveals the Glowworm laying a smoke screen 400 yards ahead of the bow of the German cruiser, and in the process of firing two torpedoes. Both missed, passing down each side of the Hipper.

HUNGRY AND NAKED

The Pitiful Picture Of Children In War-Ravaged Europe

Europe's children now go to school. They read, learn, and wonder—and many, maybe, weep in silence. They are ill-clothed, and shamed. It is not an easy thing for any child to sit day after day in rags and study through long hours, figure out arithmetical problems about apples, oranges and bags of candy, read stories of Allahin and his wonderful lamp, the Beautiful Land of Nod and other things whose plenty is taken for granted; to study in geography where countries produce sugar, fine lace and woolen garments, and to read about distant climes and other times, then trudge wearily home with the knowledge there are no decent clothes there, and but little and tasteless food in the pantry. Such is destructive to a child's mind and damaging to morale. The child wonders why all these great and good things are in the world, but none where he is living. "Why are they not here, Mummy?" the longing little soul might innocently ask. Such, however, is the tragic reality of the world in which millions of children in war-ravaged Allied countries are growing up. They look at their own tattered clothes and feel ashamed, and would rather not go to school. A poignant note comes from the Greek island of Samos. The letter, received recently by Paul K. Salama of Montreal, secretary of the Greek War Relief Fund in Canada, was from his mother. She told of the old home and the family, and added: "Please send us a bundle of used clothes because we are naked. I have a great need for clothes because the Nazis have taken everything away from us. Vagelas has grown up. He has no clothes to wear and, with the rags, he is ashamed to go to school." It is to relieve such tragic conditions that Canadians must put their shoulders to the wheel. The National Clothing Collection is planned to bring this relief. The people of Canada are asked to give all the serviceable used clothing they can spare without replacement. These same clothes will shield many a far-away child from shame and the bitterness of winter.

People Warned About Careless Use Of Powerful New Insecticide

Housewives are asked to buy DDT, the powerful new insecticide, at the drug store, are being cautioned against the possibility of mixing the chemical with household supplies. Until recently DDT retail sales were restricted to farm use. Now it may be obtained in benzene solution for household use.

The Saskatchewan health department warned that DDT in large doses is poisonous to human beings and to many animals. It is an effective weapon against mosquitoes, bedbugs, lice, fleas, moths, roaches, flies, potato beetles, and other insects but in large doses it also kills fish, cattle and fowl.

Great Britain Has The Courage And Determination To Go Forward

The achievements of British science and engineering in the war years will bear comparison with those of any state. Nation self-discipline purposeful will to sacrifice, never stood higher than in the months of decision. It would be strange if the energy, courage and determination which led Great Britain to consider every asset expendable when the stake was freedom should fail her now when the problem is to employ a comparable effort in replenishing the pot.

If there has to be a shedding of crocodile tears it would seem safer to wait awhile. Statisticians alone will neither make nor unmake a Great Power.

To consider British influence as a mere reflection of Bank of England balances, battleships and battalions is to simplify the picture altogether too much. In their best moments the British have stood for something positive in Europe and the world.—Sydney Post-Record.

TO CONSERVE CHILDREN'S HEALTH

Conservation of child health is of vital importance to the future of Canada. Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Health and Welfare, said in an "Immunization Week" message.

In drawing attention to this annual observance sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with health departments, Mr. Claxton said that since the beginning of the war 200,000 Canadian children had been attacked with diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever, and that 4,000 died.

"All these cases could have been easily prevented," the minister said. "Advances in modern preventive medicine have given a definite, safe, easy and economical means of prevention. That means is vaccination and inoculation."

"Health departments throughout the country unite with the Health League of Canada during National Immunization Week to call to public attention, particularly parents, the importance of protecting children against these preventable diseases. Every child should be protected against smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and scarlet fever before his birthday."

Mr. Claxton suggested that Canadian parents could contribute to conservation of child health by taking their children to their doctors or to hospital clinics or to public health authorities. The special measures which medical science had provided to prevent these diseases should be adopted.

"Your child cannot protect himself," Mr. Claxton said. "You must do it for him."

JACK LONDON BEHREBLE

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Mazie Larue pushed her red hair back from her forehead, smiled and gave Joe Benson an appraising look of worldly-wise green eyes. "You're a nice guy, Joe," she drawled, "but you just haven't got what it takes. Me, I like a h-man. Like Morrell, the lion tamer, for instance." Mazie sighed. "Now there's a man!"

Joe leaned his elbows on the ledge of the Ferris wheel ticket booth and his eyes were watery. "These guys don't always make the best husbands, Mazie," he said sagely. "Just because I'm a little guy doesn't mean I don't love you more than he does." Mazie smiled tolerantly. "It's not only that, Joe. You haven't a zip. How do you expect to make a good living with a meeky like you? What day's today?"

"Joe's brow wrinkled. "Thursday," he said brightly.

Mazie giggled. "It's Tuesday. Now run along, Joey. Here's some customers."

Joe Benson slouched dejectedly along the crowded midway. From the hot dog concessions came the strong smell of peppers and onions, spicy and raucous, and barked barking in front of the side show. Things were definitely on the upswing for Weiner Brothers' circus.

For everybody, decided Joe, except for him. How in thunder could he help being only five feet tall? Old Weiner claimed he'd never had a better bookkeeper than Joe Benson. That was Morrell! Just two hundred pounds of brawn, and no brains to go with it. Dames! They fell for guys like that!

He was making his rounds on the midway, supplying the concessions with change, when Zeis, the fire-eater, called: "Hey, Joe, get me a hamburger with onions, will you? Haven't had lunch."

"Sure," Joe yelled absently.

He ambled over to a counter, bought a sandwich and stroked back Zeis said: "Thanks," and bit into the sandwich. Then he looked at Joe in disgust. "I said a hamburger with onions," he growled, "and you bring a venier with mustard!"

The soft, summer dusk crept over the show grounds, and the lights shone with subdued radiance in the blue twilight. Joe Benson stood in front of the animals and looked at the twelve cages of lions. Morrell was tossing the heads huge red chunks of beef, and the lions growled and drooled. From her booth at the Ferris wheel Mazie watched Morrell in admiration as he moved from cage to cage, huge and hairy.

Morrell finished feeding the lions and sat down on a prop box. Morrell had never liked Joe. Mazie was a smart girl, she played Joe and Morrell one against the other, convincing each she preferred the other.

WINS V.C. TWICE—Capt. Charles H. Upham of New Zealand has been awarded the Victoria Cross a second time to become the third man in almost 100 years to achieve this honor. His first award was made in Crete in 1941, the second for gallantry in the North Africa campaign.

Morrell lit a cigarette and called to Joe. "What's on your mind, kid?" Joe's gaze was still on the animals. "If I could just handle them like you," he said absently.

Morrell grinned. "It's easy," he said. "The old lion-taming act goes big with the women, eh, kid?"

"Yeah," Joe replied bitterly. "I've noticed."

Morrell looked at Mazie and the expression on his swarthy face changed. "Sit down, kid," he said to Joe. He pointed to a tawny lion in the second cage from the left. "Take old Hercules there," he went on. "Hercules hasn't had any teeth for three years now. He wouldn't hurt a baby. But the customers don't know that. Joe's shoulders straightened. "You're kidding, Morrell!"

Morrell waved a deprecating hand. "That's on 'level, kid," he said. "Of course, there others are plenty bad. We kept old Hercules after he lost his teeth. He looks good, and lion cost money."

"You—you mean anyone could handle Hercules?" Joe was incredulous.

"Sure," Morrell grinned. He leaned close to Joe. "Listen, kid," he whispered. "I'll give you a break. You want to make a hit with Mazie. O.K. I'll slip you the keys to the cages tonight. About eight o'clock when the midway's jammed you slip around back of Hercules' cage and pull the lift cord for the front gate. He goes out on the midway. See? You happen at night and play the lion. See? Just walk straight up to him and take him by the mane and run him back in the cage. He's tame as a kitten."

Joe wrung Morrell's hand. "You're not a bad egg after all, Morrell."

As Joe strode down the midway Morrell called: "Don't forget, Joe. Second to the left."

And then Morrell took Hercules and led him to the next to the last cage on the right. In Hercules' place he put the youngest, most vicious lion of the lot.

At eight o'clock Morrell hid in the shadows just beyond his domain. In his hand he carried a long, pronged steel rod.

At eight-fifteen he heard the hysterical shrieks of women and saw the mad scurry of the midway. Silhouetted against the light of the Ferris wheel stood a lion. And then he saw Joe Benson walk up and take the head, firmly by the mane and lead him back to the cage. Morrell cursed softly. "Of all the..."

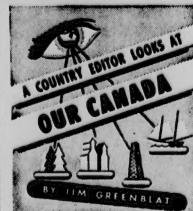

It was after midnight when Joe burst into Morrell's tent. He swaggered with a new confidence. He wrung Morrell's limp hand. "It worked, Morrell!" he exclaimed. "Mazie and I are getting married tomorrow!"

Morrell scowled. "Didn't you have no trouble at all with that lion?" he growled, puzzled.

Joe beamed. "It was easy as pie, Morrell. My memory's getting better, too. I went straight up to that second cage on the right, just the way you told me."

◆ We get some tall stories about huge vegetables these days. Mrs. Robert A. Harry Cooper of the Glenora district in Manitoba claims the Canadian crown with a 3-lb. potato, but falls in Killarney in the same province do in bunches. ... And talking about out of season stuff, Mrs. Ida Chisholm of Kelowna River in B.C. is proud of wild strawberries still on the stems and in early summer condition. And just to show it can be done in Ontario, Arnold Covert of Pictou picked two quarts of strawberries in the garden of his own home last week. He hopes to have berries in November. Hail, Canada!

The Alaska Highway

Some Action Should Be Taken To Keep The Road In Repair

Reports brought back from the Alaska Highway by the Great Falls fact-finding party which recently drove from Whitehorse to Edmonton would indicate that something ought to be done to crystallize opinion lest the feeling of relief that the war is over should result in the abandonment of the millions spent on the road when Alaska and Canada were threatened with Japanese invasion in 1942.

We can hardly imagine that the Canadian-American joint defence board would, for the sake of a few million dollars a year, abandon a highway which it took so many millions to build. It is said that the circumstance which first led to the building of the road, was the fact that for even less than it costs yearly to keep the battlement in commission. We haven't heard that this time we're going to scrap our battlements as we did after the last war. Nor should we, from a purely defence standpoint. We haven't heard that the war is over. The Alaska Highway, Lettbridge Herald.

Many People Make Themselves Unpleasant Over The Telephone

Unquestionably, the world contains too many people who use the telephone to afflict their fellow-mortals; namely those who ring us up when we are tuned in on our favorite program, or when we are absorbed in the adventures of a fiction heroine.

Along with these are too many people, unknown to us, who, upon hearing our polite, "Hello!" invariably demand, "Who is this?" Bitter experience often proves that trying to reduce the great number of these people by replying, icily, "Who is it that you want, please?" But they're not to be crushed. They come back with, "Say, what's the matter with you? What number have I got?" There are too many such people in the world. Entirely too many—New York Times.

CANADA MAKES BLUE CHEESE—PENICILLIN DOES IT—The Canadian Cheese, one of the best developments produced by the dairy research department of the Ontario Agricultural college, contains a type of penicillin. A mould of the penicillin type, bearing the name Penicillium Roquefortii for the same family as "Penicillium Notatum", from which the famous drug is made, is used to make a pure mould culture which produces the distinguishing blue mould in the cheese from which the product derives its name. Prof. W. B. Spurge, head of the dairy research department in Guelph, Ont., said the cheese would "certainly do no harm to the consumer," that in appearance, flavor and quality the new product is expected to provide keen competition for imported brands like French Roquefort, which is made from sheep's milk and aged in the Roquefort caves. THE CWAC AND AUXILIARY SERVICE

One of the most pleasant sights for the troops of Canada's Occupation Army in northwest Germany now-a-days is to come across the smiling faces of the girls of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. There are now 55 CWACs attached to Canadian Auxiliary Services in different sections of the Canadian area, and everyone sees them, for they work in the different canteens and clubs operated by Auxiliary Services. Take the Eskimo Inn, the popular centre in Oldenburg, where you can walk in and sit down to a heaping dish of ice cream and a cake. Behind the counter, where you pay a nominal price for the cake, sits pretty Pte. Anne Rozhovich, of 4885 Sixth Avenue, Rosemount, Montreal. Despite her diminutive proportions she bosses the place as any sergeant-major could, and her voice is the voice of authority. "Don't forget to bring your cuppies back to the counter, boys—say yodel, and the 'boys', most of them big enough to toss her in the air like a doll, don't hesitate to obey. Just a five minute walk from the 'Eskimo Inn' is another establishment known as the Beaver Club. Here the Canadian soldier finds everything from a tea-room and snack bar to a games room and reading and writing room. In a corner of the latter, usually well filled with troops as well as with books and magazines, you find a large 'information' sign and behind the sign sits Pte. Tony Townsend, of Prince George, B.C. Tony runs a one-girl information booth, that keeps her as busy as a job in the information booth in Union Station, Montreal. "Where can I get transportation back to my unit?" "Where can I get a hair cut?" "I've got something in my eye, where can I get it attended to?" "Where is the castle I've heard is in Oldenburg?" And Tony, sitting behind her desk, looking trim and smart in her natty CWAC uniform, has an answer for those and a thousand other questions that are popped at her each day. Altogether there are 13 CWACs stationed at Oldenburg, performing similar tasks. They are doing an excellent job and enjoying doing it. This is one detachment where you don't hear any talk about points. As one of them put it, "We're not worrying about points. We like the work here. As long as the boys have to stay, well, I guess we'll just carry on and stay too." In charge of the detachment is Sgt. Holly Greig, of Calgary and Victoria. Among others in Oldenburg are: Mickey Ramsay, Weyburn, Sask.; Rose Koski, Gypsumville, Man.; Kay Kotsch, Dauphin, Man.; and Sgt. Dwyer, Stratford, Man. Other detachments attached to Auxiliary Services work in similar clubs and canteens in Ayrick, Varel, Bad Scharfen and Wilhelmshaven.

Pte. Ruby Walker, Quill Lake, Sask., enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps at Regina, in July, '44. Immediately following her basic training at Kitchener, Ont. Ruby was posted to No. 12 V.T.S., Edmonton, Alta., where she attended an eight weeks' clerk's course. On completion of her course, she was sent to No. 122 Infantry Training Centre, Maple Creek, Sask., where she worked in Records Office. Working in a training centre has been the most interesting, by far, of any army career," stated Pte. Walker. In the latter part of July, 1945, Ruby was posted back to her place of enlistment, and since then has been working in the Rehabilitation Wing of No. 12 District Depot. "The last step a soldier takes before finding himself 'Veteran' is 'Hector'," Ruby explained cheerfully. Prior to her enlistment in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, Pte. Walker attended school at Quill Lake.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Grace Frey, the bride looked lovely in a white sheer floor length gown. She wore a floor length veil held in place by a white coronet. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweetheart roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Shirley, who also wore floor length white with a blue chapel veil and matching coronet. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

The groomsmen was Mr. Owen Rundle of Calgary. During the signing of the register Mrs. Frey sang "Love Never Faleth". For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Herbert chose a gold colored dress with a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother wore dusky rose with a corsage of pink roses.

After a buffet supper the happy couple left for a honeymoon at Banff, Lake Louise and other points.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United Church, Cranbrook, B.C., when June Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Jacobsen, formerly of the Westcott district, became the bride of Ronald O. Burton, of Parlane, Man. Rev. E. Cribble officiated.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a chocolate brown dressmaker's suit with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations. Mr. and Mrs. C. Craig of Crows Nest attended the bride and groom.

Mr. Burton served with the Royal Navy four and a half years and received his discharge in August.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and a toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Craig.
